DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to Applicant's response to non-final rejection, filed July 9, 2007. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered. Claims 25-58 are currently pending. The rejections are as stated below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 25-38, 40-55, 57, 58 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kight, U.S. Patent No. 5,383,113, in view of Pickering, U.S. Patent No. 5,483,445, as cited in the prior Office Action.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed July 9, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Examiner has failed to explain why a person of skill would take the step of combining Kight and Pickering. Examiner respectfully disagrees, because Examiner presented such a case for obviousness at least on page 4 of the Office Action dated April 4, 2007.

Applicant further argues that "One would not look to Pickering to improve the Kight system, or vice versa, because the systems are fundamentally opposed in philosophy."

Even assuming arguendo that the business models implemented using the teachings disclosed in Pickering and Kight have differing philosophies on how to handle consumer payments, Examiner contends that one of ordinary skill in the art would look to all teachings in the field of electronic payments to modify or improve existing systems, regardless of the philosophy of the system's implementation. There is nothing in Kight that explicitly teaches away from the elements of Pickering that Examiner contends would have been obvious to include in Kight.

Examiner further notes that KSR forecloses the argument that a specific teaching is required for a finding of obviousness. KSR, 127 S.Ct. at 1741, 82 USPQ2d at 1396.

Examiner contends that the sole difference between the primary reference and the claimed subject matter is that the primary reference does not disclose a payee communications interface receiving bill data from each payee, and generating one or more electronic funds transfer messages to the payee and payor.

The Pickering reference discloses these missing features, as cited in the prior Office Action, and shows that such features were known in the field of electronic payments at the time of the invention.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the Applicant's invention to include in Kight the features of Pickering since the claimed invention is merely a combination of old elements, and in the combination each element merely would have performed the same function as it did separately, and one of ordinary skill in the art would have recognized that the results of the combination were predictable.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
